According to a report from the state, not one Philadelphia public school is listed as "Persistently Dangerous." For the 2008-09 school year, the district had 25 on the list. This is the first time since the state started issuing the list in the early 2000s that not one city school made the list.

Dr. Kermit Gosnell's former abortion clinic at 3801 Lancaster Ave. in West Philadelphia has become known as a "house of horrors." / CHARLES MOSTOLLER, METRO

Future of Gosnell's clinic still uncertain

West Philly. Residents say an infamous former abortion clinic is a "sore thumb" that's holding back the neighborhood.

When George and Kat Reed moved into a storefront at 38th Street and Lancaster Avenue four years ago to open a coffee and tea shop, they didn't know much about the building across the street.

They first heard about Dr. Kermit Gosnell when his clinic was raided in 2010 by federal agents seeking the source of illegal painkiller prescriptions. Agents also discovered evidence of illegal, dangerous abortions, and the clinic was shut down.

Gosnell is now sitting in jail and allegedly bankrupt (see sidebar), but the building remains, looming over a developing intersection.

"I wish somebody would get rid of it," said George Reed, 63, who runs Reed's Cafe with Kat. "It's disgusting."

However, the clinic's future is unclear.

A forfeiture action filed by the office of D.A. Seth Williams against the clinic is being withdrawn.

"There are currently pending civil lawsuits filed against Gosnell," said D.A. spokesperson Tasha Jamerson in an email. "In the interests of justice, the office determined that it would be appropriate that, should these lawsuits succeed, the clinic can be sought as an asset from Gosnell, either through settlement or trial verdict."

Meanwhile, the city's Law Department is planning to file for seizure of 3801 Lancaster Ave., which owes $26,000 in back taxes, according to Mark McDonald, press secretary for Mayor Michael Nutter.

Either way, neighbors want the clinic gone as soon as possible.

Gosnell's actions at the clinic attracted worldwide attention, and a TV movie is in the works.

But residents were offended when an unknown artist littered construction-paper babies outside the clinic, according to James Wright, the Lancaster Avenue commercial corridor manager for People's Emergency Center (PEC), a local community group.

"That is a really contentious property because of the history," Wright said.

PEC would like to develop affordable housing at the site with ground-floor commercial uses, but that is unlikely if the clinic is sold off privately, he said.

"A lot of people don't even want to touch it because it's got bad memories," said George Stevens, president of the Lancaster Avenue 21st Century Business Association. "With all the things happening in the area, that will be like a sore thumb sticking out."

Across the street, UPenn is building a new medical facility, and Drexel recently acquired the 14-acre site where University City High School sits vacant.

Neither school responded to inquiries about developing the Gosnell clinic.

"I would want something more positive and community-oriented here, something that would be of greater outreach," said neighbor Benson Williams, who recently set up an informational table for the nearby Catalyst for Change Church right outside the clinic. "What happened here — it certainly caused a stir."

Status of Gosnell

In prison for life, owing millions of dollars

Gosnell, 73, is presently serving three life sentences at Huntingdon correctional institute for "snipping" the spinal cords of three newborn babies at his clinic.

He was also convicted of third-degree murder for the death of Karna Maya Mongar, 41, who died from a drug overdose during a botched abortion.

Her family's lawsuit against the city's Health Department for allowing Gosnell to operate was dismissed last month. Her attorney did not respond to a request for comment.

In November 2013, Gosnell was ordered to pay the city $1.2 million in back taxes. Those funds were never paid.

"They're most likely uncollectible. Essentially we are talking about a business that has no assets," McDonald said.

Visit Metro.us for more photos and interviews with neighbors.

Cobbs Creek. Family of 12-year-old girl who died sues school

The family of Laporshia Massey, 12, has filed a lawsuit against the city and school district seeking unspecified damages for the death from asthma of the sixth-grader, who was sent home from a school which did not have a nurse on duty due to budget cutbacks.

Laporshia died on Sept. 25, 2013, after having an asthma attack while at Bryant Elementary in West Philadelphia.

The lawsuit, which names Laporshia's teacher and the principal of Bryant in the lawsuit, reveals new details about the circumstances leading up to the child's death.

"The absence of a nurse from the school on that was the result of policy decision by defendants [sic], and was not a transient or unexpected condition," the lawsuit states.

The suit states that the school had a policy forbidding children from taking medication without a school nurse present.

That policy is allegedly why, when Laporshia told her teacher she was having difficulty breathing, the teacher, who is named as Jane Doe in the suit, told Laporshia there was no nurse and that she should "remain calm."

SAM NEWHOUSE

Further details

- Laporshia was kept at the school for the rest of the day, and in the afternoon was driven home, at which point she was rushed to Children's Hospital of Pennsylvania.
- On the way there she suffered "respiratory arrest," the suit states, and couldn't be revived.

South Jersey

'Obama' won't replace 'JFK'

A South Jersey rec center will not be renamed after President Barack Obama after all.

The Willingboro Township Council reversed its decision Tuesday night, just shy of one month since the five-member board decided that the previously named JFK Center would be renamed after the country's sitting 44th president.

According to the Burlington County Times, more than 200 residents attended the meeting to express outrage over the controversial decision.

The building, which was first built as a high school in the mid-1960s, currently serves as the municipality's recreation center and senior citizen hub, according to the newspaper. METRO

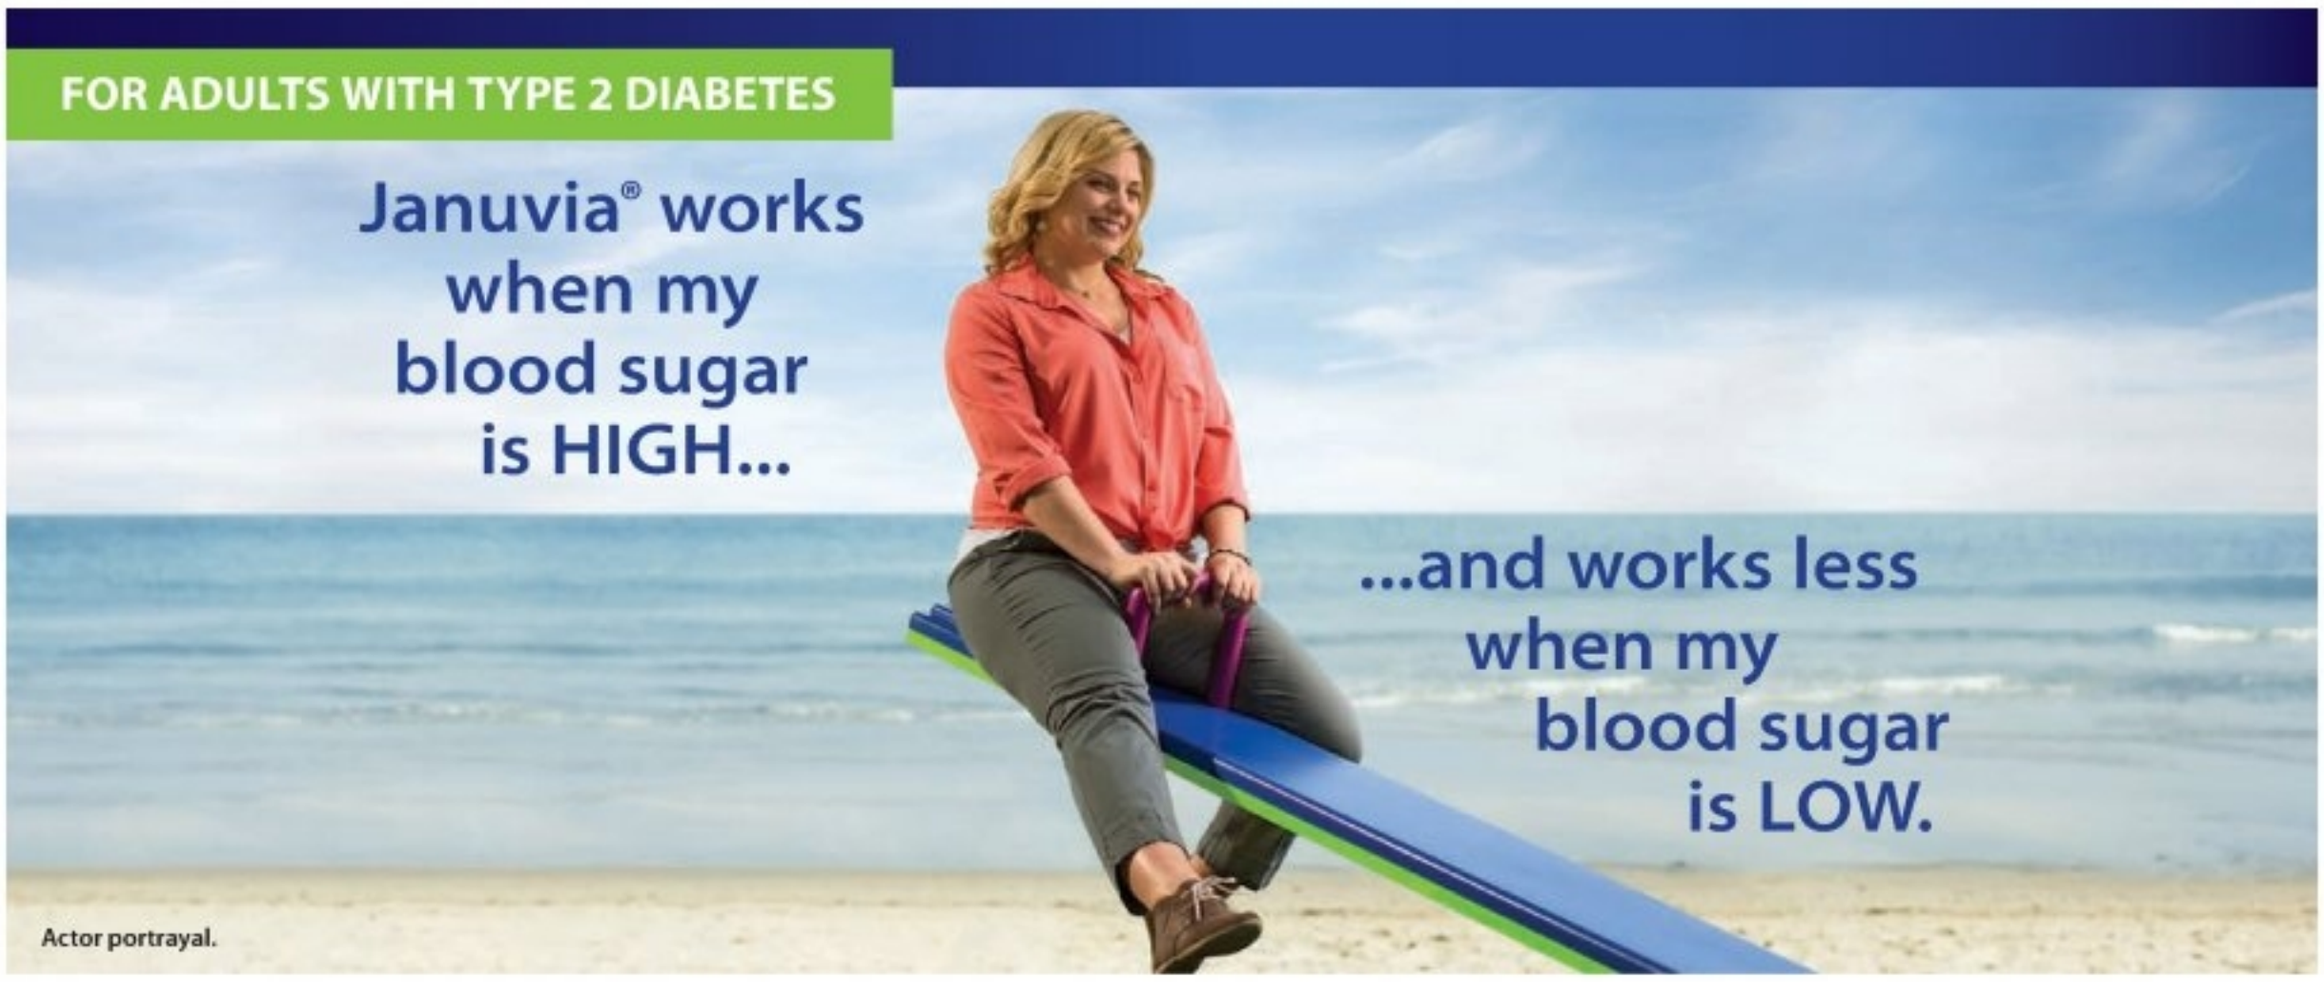
FOR ADULTS WITH TYPE 2 DIABETES



JANUVIA works by enhancing your body's own ability to lower blood sugar.

- JANUVIA is a prescription pill you take once a day.
- JANUVIA, along with diet and exercise, helps lower blood sugar in adults with type 2 diabetes.
- JANUVIA, by itself, is not likely to cause blood sugar going too low (hypoglycemia), because it works less when blood sugar is low.
- JANUVIA, by itself, is not likely to cause weight gain.

JANUVIA (jah-NEW-vee-ah) should not be used in patients with type 1 diabetes or with diabetic ketoacidosis (increased ketones in the blood or urine). If you have had pancreatitis (inflammation of the pancreas), it is not known if you have a higher chance of getting it while taking JANUVIA.

Selected Risk Information About JANUVIA

Serious side effects can happen in people who take JANUVIA, including pancreatitis, which may be severe and lead to death. Before you start taking JANUVIA, tell your doctor if you've ever had pancreatitis. Stop taking JANUVIA and call your doctor right away if you have pain in your stomach area (abdomen) that is severe and will not go away. The pain may be felt going from your abdomen through to your back. The pain may happen with or without vomiting. These may be symptoms of pancreatitis.

Do not take JANUVIA if you are allergic to any of its ingredients, including sitagliptin. Symptoms of serious allergic reactions to JANUVIA, including rash, hives, and swelling of the face, lips, tongue, and throat that may cause difficulty breathing or swallowing, can occur. If you have any symptoms of a serious allergic reaction, stop taking JANUVIA and call your doctor right away.

Kidney problems, sometimes requiring dialysis, have been reported.

If you take JANUVIA with another medicine that can cause low blood sugar (hypoglycemia), such as a sulfonylurea or insulin, your risk of getting low blood sugar is higher. The dose of your sulfonylurea medicine or insulin may need to be lowered while you use JANUVIA. Signs and symptoms of low blood sugar may include headache, drowsiness, weakness, dizziness, confusion, irritability, hunger, fast heart beat, sweating, and feeling jittery.

Please read the Medication Guide on the adjacent page for more detailed information.

Your doctor may do blood tests before and during treatment with JANUVIA to see how well your kidneys are working. Based on these results, your doctor may change your dose of JANUVIA. The most common side effects of JANUVIA are upper respiratory tract infection, stuffy or runny nose and sore throat, and headache.

You are encouraged to report negative side effects of prescription drugs to the FDA. Visit www.fda.gov/medwatch, or call 1-800-FDA-1088.

Pay as little as $5 per prescription.*

Medication Guide

JANUVIA® (jah-NEW-vee-ah) (sitagliptin) Tablets

Read this Medication Guide carefully before you start taking JANUVIA and each time you get a refill. There may be new information. This information does not take the place of talking with your doctor about your medical condition or your treatment. If you have any questions about JANUVIA, ask your doctor or pharmacist.

What is the most important information I should know about JANUVIA?

Serious side effects can happen in people taking JANUVIA, including inflammation of the pancreas (pancreatitis) which may be severe and lead to death.

Certain medical problems make you more likely to get pancreatitis.

Before you start taking JANUVIA:

Tell your doctor if you have ever had

- pancreatitis
- stones in your gallbladder (gallstones)
- a history of alcoholism
- high blood triglyceride levels
- kidney problems

Stop taking JANUVIA and call your doctor right away if you have pain in your stomach area (abdomen) that is severe and will not go away. The pain may be felt going from your abdomen through to your back. The pain may happen with or without vomiting. These may be symptoms of pancreatitis.

What is JANUVIA?

- JANUVIA is a prescription medicine used along with diet and exercise to lower blood sugar in adults with type 2 diabetes.
- JANUVIA is not for people with type 1 diabetes.
- JANUVIA is not for people with diabetic ketoacidosis (increased ketones in your blood or urine).
- If you have had pancreatitis (inflammation of the pancreas) in the past, it is not known if you have a higher chance of getting pancreatitis while you take JANUVIA.
- It is not known if JANUVIA is safe and effective when used in children under 18 years of age.

Who should not take JANUVIA?

Do not take JANUVIA if:

- you are allergic to any of the ingredients in JANUVIA. See the end of this Medication Guide for a complete list of ingredients in JANUVIA.

Symptoms of a serious allergic reaction to JANUVIA may include:

- rash
- raised red patches on your skin (hives)
- swelling of the face, lips, tongue, and throat that may cause difficulty in breathing or swallowing

What should I tell my doctor before taking JANUVIA?

Before you take JANUVIA, tell your doctor if you:

- have or have had inflammation of your pancreas (pancreatitis).
- have kidney problems.
- have any other medical conditions.
- are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. It is not known if JANUVIA will harm your unborn baby. If you are pregnant, talk with your doctor about the best way to control your blood sugar while you are pregnant.

  Pregnancy Registry: If you take JANUVIA at any time during your pregnancy, talk with your doctor about how you can join the JANUVIA pregnancy registry. The purpose of this registry is to collect information about the health of you and your baby. You can enroll in this registry by calling 1-800-986-8999.
- are breast-feeding or plan to breast-feed. It is not known if JANUVIA will pass into your breast milk. Talk with your doctor about the best way to feed your baby if you are taking JANUVIA.

Tell your doctor about all the medicines you take, including prescription and non-prescription medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements.

Know the medicines you take. Keep a list of your medicines and show it to your doctor and pharmacist when you get a new medicine.

How should I take JANUVIA?

- Take JANUVIA 1 time each day exactly as your doctor tells you.
- You can take JANUVIA with or without food.
- Your doctor may do blood tests from time to time to see how well your kidneys are working. Your doctor may change your dose of JANUVIA based on the results of your blood tests.
- Your doctor may tell you to take JANUVIA along with other diabetes medicines. Low blood sugar can happen more often when JANUVIA is taken with certain other diabetes medicines. See "What are the possible side effects of JANUVIA?".
- If you miss a dose, take it as soon as you remember. If you do not remember until it is time for your next dose, skip the missed dose and go back to your regular schedule. Do not take two doses of JANUVIA at the same time.
- If you take too much JANUVIA, call your doctor or local Poison Control Center right away.
- When your body is under some types of stress, such as fever, trauma (such as a car accident), infection or surgery, the amount of diabetes medicine that you need may change. Tell your doctor right away if you have any of these conditions and follow your doctor's instructions.
- Check your blood sugar as your doctor tells you to.
- Stay on your prescribed diet and exercise program while taking JANUVIA.
- Talk to your doctor about how to prevent, recognize and manage low blood sugar (hypoglycemia), high blood sugar (hyperglycemia), and problems you have because of your diabetes.
- Your doctor will check your diabetes with regular blood tests, including your blood sugar levels and your hemoglobin A1C.

What are the possible side effects of JANUVIA?

Serious side effects have happened in people taking JANUVIA.

- See "What is the most important information I should know about JANUVIA?".
- Low blood sugar (hypoglycemia). If you take JANUVIA with another medicine that can cause low blood sugar, such as a sulfonylurea or insulin, your risk of getting low blood sugar is higher. The dose of your sulfonylurea medicine or insulin may need to be lowered while you use JANUVIA. Signs and symptoms of low blood sugar may include:
  - headache
  - drowsiness
  - weakness
  - dizziness
  - confusion
  - irritability
  - hunger
  - fast heart beat
  - sweating
  - feeling jittery
- Serious allergic reactions. If you have any symptoms of a serious allergic reaction, stop taking JANUVIA and call your doctor right away. See "Who should not take JANUVIA?". Your doctor may give you a medicine for your allergic reaction and prescribe a different medicine for your diabetes.
- Kidney problems, sometimes requiring dialysis

The most common side effects of JANUVIA include:

- upper respiratory infection
- stuffy or runny nose and sore throat
- headache

JANUVIA may have other side effects, including:

- stomach upset and diarrhea
- swelling of the hands or legs, when JANUVIA is used with rosiglitazone (Avandia®). Rosiglitazone is another type of diabetes medicine.

These are not all the possible side effects of JANUVIA. For more information, ask your doctor or pharmacist.

Tell your doctor if you have any side effect that bothers you, is unusual or does not go away.

Call your doctor for medical advice about side effects. You may report side effects to FDA at 1-800-FDA-1088.

How should I store JANUVIA?

Store JANUVIA at 68°F to 77°F (20°C to 25°C).

Keep JANUVIA and all medicines out of the reach of children.

General information about the use of JANUVIA

Medicines are sometimes prescribed for purposes that are not listed in Medication Guides. Do not use JANUVIA for a condition for which it was not prescribed. Do not give JANUVIA to other people, even if they have the same symptoms you have. It may harm them.

This Medication Guide summarizes the most important information about JANUVIA. If you would like to know more information, talk with your doctor. You can ask your doctor or pharmacist for additional information about JANUVIA that is written for health professionals. For more information, go to www.JANUVIA.com or call 1-800-622-4477.

What are the ingredients in JANUVIA?

Active ingredient: sitagliptin

Inactive ingredients: microcrystalline cellulose, anhydrous dibasic calcium phosphate, croscarmellose sodium, magnesium stearate, and sodium stearyl fumarate. The tablet film coating contains the following inactive ingredients: polyvinyl alcohol, polyethylene glycol, talc, titanium dioxide, red iron oxide, and yellow iron oxide.

What is type 2 diabetes?

Type 2 diabetes is a condition in which your body does not make enough insulin, and the insulin that your body produces does not work as well as it should. Your body can also make too much sugar. When this happens, sugar (glucose) builds up in the blood. This can lead to serious medical problems.

High blood sugar can be lowered by diet and exercise, and by certain medicines when necessary.

This Medication Guide has been approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

North Philly. Temple Police expands patrol zone to 18th Street

In response to several violent attacks a few blocks off Temple University's main campus, the university for the first time has expanded its police force's patrol zone.

Charles Leone, executive director of Temple's Campus Safety Services, said Wednesday that police are extending its western border boundary to include 18th Street. Its previous patrol area cutoff was at 16th Street.

In what equates to a large box that fits around the campus and the outlying North Philadelphia area, police will patrol between 18th and Ninth streets, and from Susquehanna to Jefferson.

The expansion comes five months after a group of teens beat a 19-year-old student with a brick and attacked two others.

These incidents, Leone said, "certainly moved up the timeline" of the expansion.

In the last few years, Temple has seen an influx of students choosing to live near the campus. And as the students spread out farther into North Philadelphia neighborhoods, the university police squad needed to adjust.

Center City. Dilworth Park finally opens to the public this morning

The Center City District will officially unveil Dilworth Park today at 11 a.m.

To launch the new park, the Center City District will throw a three-day festival from Sept. 4 to Sept. 6.

On Sept. 4, following the ribbon-cutting, the District will throw an "all-day community arts and culture festival featuring performances and talent from neighborhoods across the city," according to a statement.

On Sept. 5, residents can attend a "Picnic in the Park," from noon to 7 p.m. and will feature traditional picnic foods and a happy hour.

On Sept. 6, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., "Playtime in the Park," will host activities for children.

Throughout the year the park will also host bands, movies and cultural events, such as an Oktoberfest. TOMMY ROWAN

We will 'degrade and destroy' ISIS: Obama

Reporter killed.
Secretary of State John Kerry called Sotloff's execution a "punch to the gut."

The United States plans to fight Islamic State until it is no longer a force in the Middle East and will seek justice for the killing of American journalist Steven Sotloff, President Barack Obama said on Wednesday.

He added that destroying the militant group will take time because of the power vacuum in Syria, the abundance of battle-hardened fighters that grew out of al Qaeda during the Iraq war and the need to build coalitions, including with local Sunni communities.

Islamic State released a video on Tuesday showing the beheading of the U.S. journalist, the second American hostage to be killed within weeks, in retaliation for U.S. air strikes in Iraq.

"The bottom line is this: Our objective is clear and that is to degrade and destroy [the Islamic State] so that it's no longer a threat not just to Iraq but also the region and to the United States," Obama told a news conference.

"Whatever these murderers think they will achieve with killing innocent Americans like Steven, they have already failed," Obama said. "They failed because, like people around the world, Americans are repulsed by their barbarism. We will not be intimidated."

The United States resumed air strikes in Iraq in August for the first time since the pullout of U.S. troops in 2011. REUTERS

"Those that make the mistake of harming Americans will learn that we will not forget and that our reach is long and that justice will be served."

Ebola virus strikes third American

Toll. According to WHO, Ebola has killed more than 1,500 in West Africa since March.

A 51-year-old Massachusetts physician, Dr. Rick Sacra, is the latest missionary worker to be infected with Ebola while working in Liberia, the Christian organization SIM USA said on Wednesday.

Sacra had been delivering babies and working with patients who were not known to have the deadly virus, the organization said. It had not yet been determined how he contracted the disease.

He had been following protocols for containment of the disease. Sacra is receiving care within the missionary's isolated Ebola unit in Monrovia, Bruce Johnson, president of SIM USA, said at a news conference in Charlotte, North Carolina.

US missionary describes 'dark days' of Ebola

Smiling and appearing robustly healthy, a U.S. missionary infected with Ebola while working in Liberia on Wednesday shared publicly her battle with the deadly virus for the first time.

Nancy Writebol, 59, of Charlotte, North Carolina, has been recovering in an undisclosed location since her release last month from an Atlanta hospital that also treated another missionary who contracted the often lethal virus.

She told reporters there were mornings when she woke up and thought with surprise, "I'm alive."

"I thought whether I live or whether I die, it's going to be OK. It's going to be OK," she said, speaking at times through tears about her recovery at the headquarters of SIM USA.

Ponzi scheme. Bernie Madoff's son loses his battle with cancer

Andrew Madoff, the son of convicted fraudster Bernard Madoff, died on Wednesday from cancer, his lawyer said. He was 48.

"He died peacefully at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center on Sept. 3, 2014, surrounded by his loving family," lawyer Martin Flumenbaum said in a statement.

Both Madoff sons denied knowing about the fraud and were never criminally charged in connection with the scheme. They turned their father in to authorities in December 2008, saying he had confessed to them.

However, the guilty plea of former Madoff adviser Paul Konigsberg in June included reference to the brothers as "co-conspirators," suggesting prosecutors were still considering criminal charges against Andrew Madoff, sources told Reuters.

Meanwhile, the trustee seeking to recover money for Bernard Madoff's victims filed civil claims against Andrew Madoff and the estate of Mark Madoff, accusing the brothers of aiding the fraud and collecting illicit profits.

Most recently in July, the trustee, Irving Picard, asserted in a court filing that the brothers deleted emails linking them to the scheme at Bernard L. Madoff Investment Securities LLC and used sham loans to buy luxury apartments in Manhattan.

Defense lawyers denied the claims and pointed to a ruling from the United Kingdom's High Court of Justice last October against Picard that concluded the brothers did not suspect fraud.

A spokeswoman for Picard said in a statement that the trustee and his team "were very sorry to learn of Andrew Madoff's death and they extend their sympathies to his family." REUTERS

Bernard Madoff operated a massive Ponzi scheme estimated to have cost investors $17 billion in lost principal. His other son, Mark Madoff, committed suicide in 2010 on the second anniversary of his father's arrest.

Girl trapped in spinning washing machine

A 5-year-old girl was hospitalized on Wednesday after she was trapped in a laundromat washing machine for several minutes and spun at high speeds, police said.

The incident occurred Tuesday in a laundromat in Pasadena, about 10 miles southeast of Houston, they said.

"She was tumbling pretty fast in there," Pasadena police spokesman Vance Mitchell told Houston TV station KHOU.

"One person walked by and said they saw something flopping around in there. They thought it was just a dress or something because it was moving pretty fast," Mitchell said.

Police were unsure how the girl got trapped. The said just before the incident, a customer had tried to use the machine and was given a refund because it was not working properly. REUTERS

Ferguson. Governor lifts state of emergency as protesting continues

Police take up position to control demonstrators who were protesting the killing of teenager Michael Brown on Aug.12 in Ferguson, Missouri. / GETTY IMAGES

Missouri Gov. Jay Nixon on Wednesday formally lifted the state of emergency that he had declared in Ferguson weeks ago when the shooting death of an unarmed black teenager by a white police officer sparked sometimes violent demonstrations.

Nixon had declared a state of emergency on Aug. 16 due to unrest in the St. Louis suburb following the Aug. 9 shooting of Michael Brown, 18, by Ferguson police officer Darren Wilson.

Demonstrators have continued to protest in Ferguson, calling for prosecutors to charge Wilson in Brown's death and for police to change tactics. There have been no violent clashes in about two weeks like those in which police in riot gear fired tear gas to quell crowds and made scores of arrests.

Nixon said a return of peace to Ferguson streets was a testament to efforts by community and faith leaders, working alongside state and local law enforcement officers.

Law enforcement and witness accounts of the shooting have differed. REUTERS

Quoted

"Over the past week, we've seen students getting back to school, businesses reopening their doors and folks getting back to their normal routines."

Nixon said in a statement

Twitter feed

We check in with some of Hollywood's biggest names to see what they've been up to — in their own words, in 140 characters or fewer.

Today, Tom Arnold is declaring his readiness to be hacked, Kevin Hart seems tense, Chloe Grace Moretz is suddenly embarking on a new career and Conan O'Brien is going to need a while to get over the hacking scandal.

@TomArnold: Trainer had me take naked pics 2 show progress. They're disgusting but think I've proven last 30 yrs nothing can ruin my career.

@KevinHart4Real: Up early & at it as usual...I'm about to get this morning workout in and then go to work!!! No days off people....I gets it in Damn it

@ChloeGMoretz: Wrote my first song ever tonight, shocked because I barely write poetry.. Just kind of happened, wow, feeling proud of myself @ConanOBrien: I don't even trust real clouds anymore.

Cee Lo, America wants to sing the chorus of your most famous song back to you. / ALL PHOTOS GETTY IMAGES

1 Cee Lo has made sure his life isn't so hot right now

Cee Lo Green's "The Good Life" won't be coming back to TBS for a second season, which makes sense considering that the former "Voice" judge's life isn't that good right now. The cancelation news, first announced by the Hollywood Reporter, comes in the wake of Green's latest legal troubles and a rape-related Twitter meltdown, and critics have been quick to suggest cause and effect. Last week, Green pleaded no contest to giving a woman ecstasy without her knowledge in 2012. Though his plea maintained his innocence in the case, he was sentenced to three years' probation, 360 hours of community service and a year of weekly NA/AA meetings. He followed that up by getting into a bizarre Twitter fight about rape and the nature of consent. "If someone is passed out they're not even with you consciously! So with implies consent," he wrote. "People who have really been raped remember."

2 Connie Britton more enlightened than Gwyneth Paltrow

Remember when Gwyneth Paltrow compared being a mom with a regular office job to being a mom who's a famous actress and decided her situation was tougher? Well, "Nashville" star Connie Britton does. "Our hours are long, but I would never compare what I do to what anyone else does," Britton tells Redbook. "Everybody's working hard and doing the best they can — if you're a mom, there's that pressure, we all face it. I'm constantly being pulled in different directions. But that's the thing: Moms are pulled and distracted. I would never say that's worse for me because I'm an actor."

As a refresher, here's what Paltrow said about the difference between her and, say, Diane Keaton's character in "Baby Boom" (because all of these references are terribly current): "I think it's different when you have an office job, because it's routine and ... you can do all the stuff in the morning and then you come home in the evening. ... When you're shooting a movie, they're like, 'We need you to go to Wisconsin for two weeks,' and then you work 14 hours a day and that part of it is very difficult. I think to have a regular job and be a mom is not as — of course there are challenges, but it's not like being on set."

Thanks again, Goop!

Connie Britton knows your mom's job is not easy.

3 More touching details about Brangelina wedding emerge

Details about Angelina Jolie and Brad Pitt's nuptials last month at Chateau Miraval, their estate in France, are coming out thanks to People magazine. And chief among them? The efforts Pitt and Jolie made to include the memory of her mother, Marcheline Bertrand, who died in 2007 of ovarian cancer.

"Brad had a dedication to Marcheline engraved inside the chapel where we stood," Jolie tells the magazine. "I also wore a little flower ring that was hers, and [my brother] Jamie wore an angel pin from her jewelry box." The couple took their vows atop the stone etched with a tribute to Bertrand.

Talking point

Bon Jovi out of the team-buying business (for now)

Jon Bon Jovi won't be buying any NFL teams anytime soon. The singer was axed from a group of investors that's been eyeing the Buffalo Bills so that they can try to match a rival bidder, according to the New York Post. Bon Jovi was set to be the face of the buying organization and would therefore have to be responsible for at least 30 percent of the purchase price. With an estimated net worth of $300 million, that would cap the group's bid at around $1.1 billion.

1 'The Imitation Game'

Benedict Cumberbatch injects some early life into the Oscar race in this true wartime tale of British mathematician Alan Turing and his efforts to crack the German's Enigma machine during World War II. Cumberbatch has come in strong to the festival before (see last year's disappointing "The Fifth Estate"), but this one feels like the real deal.

Most exciting films at TIFF

It's not Cannes, but it's close: The Toronto International Film Festival is the cinematic spectacle that lands right as awards season kicks off. Many of the films that will soon be gobbling up trophies make their debut here, usually bringing with them their good-looking stars. There are 400 films screening at TIFF, but here are seven that we're really excited about. NED EHRBAR

2 'Foxcatcher'

"Moneyball" director Bennett Miller returns to TIFF with this Sundance hit starring Steve Carell, Channing Tatum and Mark Ruffalo telling the true story of a pair of Olympic wrestler brothers (Tatum and Ruffalo) and eccentric millionaire John du Pont (Carell).

3 'The Theory of Everything'

Eddie Redmayne is already earning raves for his turn as Stephen Hawking in a film about his time at university as he falls in love and falls victim to a motor neuron disease that robs him of his speech and mobility.

4 'Maps to the Stars'

David Cronenberg, one of Toronto's favorite sons, takes on a dysfunctional family mired in the depths of Hollywood and fame-seeking, featuring a stellar cast led by Julianne Moore (who's won awards for this).

5 'Rosewater'

Jon Stewart steps away from "The Daily Show" desk with his directorial debut, an adaptation of the New York Times best-selling memoir by BBC journalist Maziar Bahari about being detained and interrogated in Iran in 2009. Gael Garcia Bernal plays Bahari.

6 'St. Vincent'

Bill Murray stars as a curmudgeon taking his 12-year-old son under his wing and educating the boy in the world of race tracks, dive bars and strip clubs while the boy's mother (Melissa McCarthy) is busy at work. There are worse ways to grow up.

7 'Wild'

Reese Witherspoon is after another Oscar with "Wild," directed by Jean-Marc Vallee ("Dallas Buyers Club"), about a woman leaving her broken marriage and drug-addled past behind to embark on a thousand-mile solo trek along the Pacific Crest Trail.

"Maps to the Stars" finds Julianne Moore in David Cronenberg's freaky world. TIFF

Whit Stillman / GETTY IMAGES

Interview. Whit Stillman says "The Cosmopolitans" is not TV — it's a 26-minute film.

Noted independent filmmaker Whit Stillman takes the social worlds he examines in films such as "Metropolitan," "Barcelona" and "Damsels in Distress" and transfers them to television — sort of — with an Amazon Studios digital pilot, "The Cosmopolitans." The pilot for the series — chronicling a group of American ex-pats (including Chloe Sevigny) trying to make their way in the Paris social scene — debuted online last week, with more to come if all goes well.

What will a Whit Stillman TV show look like?
We always called it a film: "We're doing the film, we're making a film." It's just a film that happens to run only 26 minutes. Hopefully it will be in chapters and we'll get to make at least six more chapters.

Have you planned those out to some extent?
Not exactly. I really love to write from detail to story rather than have a story and then do the details, so I have to kind of give them some version of how it could be before mid-September. But when it really comes down to it, I prefer to start from scratch and just get the characters doing their stuff and going in different directions.

Chloe Sevigny is an American in Paris on "The Cosmopolitans."
AMAZON

experience of working with Amazon?
Well, I've had a long relationship with them. One of the first things that Amazon Studios did, actually, was to option "Metropolitan" for remaking. They were going to allow neophyte filmmakers to use the "Metropolitan" story to adapt to their own uses. I think too many people focus on that sort of class nature of "Metropolitan," when in fact, it's really just a story of group dynamics. It's someone from outside coming into a group and the group falling apart or metamorphosing. That really could be any milieu. But I think there were problems at the Writers Guild, or complications, so that didn't go through.

Has doing this made you consider going into more conventional television after this?
I mean, I really want to do this show and I really want to do the independent projects that I have lined up, so I'm very keen to see this show go forward. But I'm really keen on indie and low-budget films as well. After a horrible sort of 10 years of failure trying to work out of London, things are going better.

Going abroad

What is it about Paris specifically that speaks to you so much?

The thing is, I was there for nine years in a period in which I was newly single, and I got involved in this kind of ex-pat social world. And so I had all kinds of experiences and met all kinds of people, and they were pretty funny, pretty interesting people doing pretty crazy things. A lot of potential stories came out of that.

New York Fashion Week kicks off today, marking the monthlong marathon of runway shows that inform us on the spring styles we'll be coveting months from now. But before our attention turns to breezy dresses and open-toe sandals, let's focus on fall. Get inspiration for your big buys of the season from fashion expert Eva Chen, editor-in-chief of Lucky magazine, who tells us what she's lusting after right now. TINA CHADHA

10 Types of people you meet online

Looking for love? According to PlentyofFish.com, here are the most common dating profiles.

Women

The Sobber

1 She probably really isn't ready to date yet, but is tentatively giving online dating a try.

Sample profile quote: Look for references to an ex-boyfriend and questions like "Are there any good guys out there?"

The Hot Non-Responder

2 This dater is not looking for a steady commitment — she wants to have some fun.

Sample profile quote: "My friends made me sign up for this," insinuating that she really doesn't want to be online.

Carmen Sandiego

3 Like her namesake, this mystery woman is hard to pin down.

Sample profile quote: Carmen doesn't have one, as she doesn't share much about herself online.

The "Woo!" Girl

4 You'll recognize the "Woo!" immediately — she's the one pictured with three of her best friends at a bar in her profile photo.

Identifying characteristic: She's outgoing, flirty and spontaneous.

The Queen Bee

5 This one is self-explanatory. She's used to being the center of attention.

How you can impress her: Think of an interesting, unconventional first date.

Men

The World Traveler

6 This amateur explorer has crossed the globe several times — and won't hesitate to mention it.

Typical profile photo: It's set in an exotic locale most people only know of from watching the Travel Channel.

Online daters tend to fall into recognizable patterns, says one dating site. / GOODSHOOT

The Relic

7 You know the "half your age plus 7" rule? This guy has never heard of it.

The Spammer

8 He messages and likes with abandon.

Sample message: Beware of messages that seem like they've been copied and pasted to 10 other profiles.

The Dog Whisperer

9 As you might have guessed, his profile frequently mentions his canine companions.

The Hopeful Romantic

10 He is probably divorced, but that hasn't stopped him from looking for true love.

Profile characteristics: He likes the words "loyal," "compassionate" and "commitment."

Tech alert

New app puts women in charge

Online dating can be brutal, especially for single women.

Tech entrepreneurs Susie Lee and Katrina Hess are trying to fix that with their new app, Siren. Once female users take an in-app photo, they are guided to Siren's "question of the day" and will be able to see the men who answer. She can then allow men she likes to see her profile.

"You're trying to make strangers less strange," Lee says.

Winning drink

Elisir d'Amore

Vincenzo Cangemi of Ovest Pizzoteca and Bar in New York earned the regional Most Imaginative Bartender title at the U.S. Bartenders' Guild competition last month. On Monday, he faces off against 39 of the country's best bartenders in Vegas for the national title.

Ingredients

1.75 oz. Bombay Sapphire gin
0.5 oz. Solerno blood orange liqueur
0.75 oz. reduction of fresh chamomile flowers and ginger beer
0.5 oz. lemon juice
6-7 yellow endive leaves
1 bar spoon of coriander seeds

Instructions

Pour lemon juice, coriander and reduction into a shaker. Muddle until the seeds break, then add endive, holding one leaf in reserve, and muddle. Add alcohols. Shake and double strain into a coupette. Garnish with endive leaf.

Meet Philadelphia's next food celebrity

Cuisine. Alex Boonphaya, just off his James Beard House dinner, has two new restaurants in the works.

"Doing Beard House was absolutely a career goal," says Chef Alex Boonphaya. / JOSHUA MALLORY

For any chef, an invitation to cook at the James Beard House in Manhattan is an honor. A James Beard Award is the food world's Oscar, and the invite translates to a coming-out party that greats such as Daniel Boulud, Nobu Matsuhisa and Charlie Trotter have been accorded at the late Beard's one-time home.

For Alex Boonphaya, it's even more exciting. The Thai restaurateur joins a lineup that has mainly included chefs with an American, French or Latin focus.

"We were thrilled to finally get the opportunity, and their membership seemed happy as our dinner sold out," says Boonphaya, who owns Circles Contemporary Asian Cuisine in South Philly and Northern Liberties.

That definitive dinner previewed Boonphaya's future, particularly the mix of Thai and Mexican cuisine he's creating, along with chef Silvestre Rincon, for Tuk Tuk Real at 429 South St. — opening Sept. 10 — and a white-tablecloth Thai restaurant planned for Midtown Village in Summer 2015.

Tuk Tuk Real is a 48-seat Thai taqueria Rincon won executive chef title rights for during what Boonphaya calls a "knife fight."

On the plate

Boonphaya plated fried chicken with pickled veggies, pepper marmalade and herbs. / JOSHUA MALLORY

At the James Beard House

The chef served tangy hors d'oeuvres like sweet tamarind duck jerky with sticky rice and curried chicken liver pate with apple lemongrass compote; bold main dishes like herb and spice siphon-infused dashi soup with tofu noodles and hearty fried chicken breast with crispy skin, pickled vegetables, pepper marmalade and Thai herb dust; and a homey curried ginger scrambled egg with bacon.

The as-yet-unnamed, more upscale Midtown Village spot doesn't have an address yet, but Boonphaya is deep into menu planning; expect delicate, subtle flavors. The restaurant will allow Boonphaya, who has a background as a Four Seasons Hotel sous chef, a chance to serve highbrow yet accessible cuisine alongside a cocktail program he says will rival Philly's top bars.

"Producing the menu for the James Beard House was a step in the direction I've been moving toward for years," says Boonphaya. "I can't wait to make food like that on a daily basis."

DRINK

The Great Philadelphia Craft Beer Crawl

Saturday, noon to 6 p.m.
23rd St. and Fairmount Ave.
$10-$20
www.upcomingevents.com
Craft beer is like normal beer except it actually tastes good. At least that's how craft beer aficionados look at it, and if you fall into that category, you'll love this pub crawl with 12 stops and plenty of craft brews to sample. Breweries include Ommegang, Sierra Nevada, Goose Island, Sly Fox and many more.

GOING OUT

First Friday French Cabaret

Friday, 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.
Barnes Foundation
2025 Ben Franklin Parkway
$25, 215-278-7200
www.barnesfoundation.org
The theme of this First Friday event at the Barnes is pre-war Paris, with the Avalon Jazz Band providing classic Jazz Age tunes and aperitifs, mini-baguette sandwiches, pommes frites and macaroons offered in the museum's Annenberg Court. Special features include a screening of the documentary film "The Collector" and a gallery talk on the still lifes of Cezanne.

ART

Pennsylvania Coast Day

Saturday, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Walnut Plaza, Penn's Landing; Columbus Ave. at Walnut St.
Free, 800-445-4935; www.delawareestuary.org
This event, sponsored by the Partnership for the Delaware Estuary, features kayaking, paddle boating, swan boats and ferry rides, the Pennsylvania Tug Boat Festival (sounds fairly epic), tours of a fire boat and an oil-spill cleanup boat, a remote control model ship race, the requisite kids' activities such as face painting and arts and crafts, and other it's-still-hot-out fun.

PARTNERSHIP FOR THE DELAWARE ESTUARY

BOOKS

Bizarro Across America

Thursday, 7 p.m.
The Farm
4800 block of Wharton
$5, 503-975-5222
www.bizarrocentral.com
This reading features four authors of bizarro fiction, an underground literary style situated, as the Bizarro Central website suggests, somewhere between Franz Kafka and John Waters. Drawing on the warped world of low-budget cult movies for inspiration, bizarro stories are a heady mix of bludgeoning social commentary and triumphantly bad taste, spinning hilariously idiotic premises into surprisingly thought-provoking tales.

THEATER

'9 to 5: The Musical'

Through Oct. 18
Walnut Street Theatre
825 Walnut St.
$20-$95, 215-574-3550
www.walnutstreettheatre.org
Of all the movies that might've been turned into a popular musical in 2008, few probably expected the 1980 workplace revenge comedy starring Dolly Parton, Lily Tomlin and Jane Fonda. It probably helped the show's early success that Parton herself wrote the songs, supplementing the original's eponymous theme with her trademark effervescence — definitely a less unexpected venture than Dollywood.

'The Rape of Lucrece'

Friday through Sept. 15
Broad Street Ministry
315 S. Broad St.
$15-20, 215-413-1318
www.fringearts.com
Intrepid actor Dan Hodge will perform a one-man rendition of this narrative poem by William Shakespeare, telling one of the darkest tales in ancient Roman legend. Lucretia, raped by the Roman king's son, was said to have killed herself in shame, and the ensuing scandal spurred a popular revolt that led to the founding of the Roman Republic.

#selfieshow

Through Sept. 30
Yell Gallery
2111 E. Susquehanna Ave.
Free, yellgallery@gmail.com
www.yellgallery.com
Any Tumblr user already knows the selfie is an art form, but what does it mean for art? The Yell Gallery's hopes for this selfie-themed show are to "explore modern ways of seeing and looking at oneself and deduce the place and meaning of this new means of self-presentation." It includes an ongoing selfie collage that anyone can submit to.

DANCE

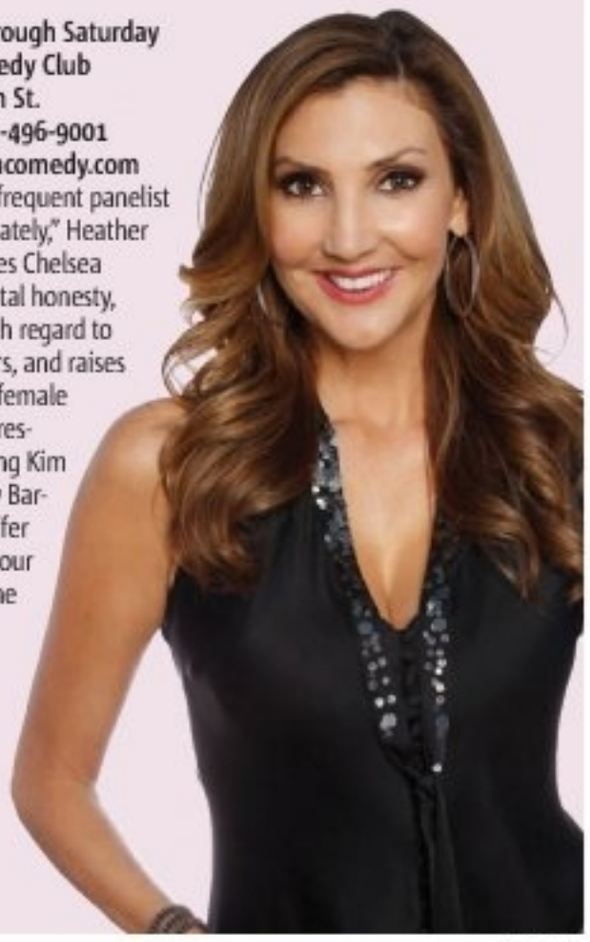
'Would I Lie to You?'

Friday through Tuesday
Latvian Society
531 N. 7th St.
$15, 215-413-1318
www.fringearts.com
Everyone hates being lied to, but who hasn't told a lie? Most of us think it's ethical to tell "white lies" from time to time, but might that just be a big lie? This dance performance will explore the question of mendacity through movement — which seems right, because when we lie, we use our whole bodies, not just our mouths.

COMEDY

Heather McDonald

Thursday through Saturday
Helium Comedy Club
2031 Sansom St.
$17-$25, 215-496-9001
www.heliumcomedy.com
A writer and frequent panelist on "Chelsea Lately," Heather McDonald sees Chelsea Handler's brutal honesty, especially with regard to sexual matters, and raises her a host of female celebrity impressions, including Kim Cattrall, Drew Barrymore, Jennifer Aniston and (our favorite) Celine Dion. Back in the 2008 election, her Sarah Palin was rivaled only by Tina Fey's.



PROVIDED

BalletX at The Porch

Saturday, 5 p.m.
The Porch at 30th St. Station
30th and Market streets
Free, 215-893-9456
www.fringearts.com
Contemporary dance troupe Ballet X will perform a free concert in the open air. Hopefully it won't be too cool of a day, because we'd get vicarious chills watching them in those tights. There's no other info on the program, but if you're a fan of local dance, you already know what a treat it's likely to be.

ART

Project Fishtown

Friday through Sunday
The Hatchatory
2628 Martha St., Free
www.facebook.com/artistsunite
Artists Unite! hosts its second annual showcase of local professional, as emerging artists from Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey are invited to participate in the showcase. This year's theme is early works, so these artists can break out the old and make room (and hopefully a little money) for new works of art. Don't assume that means these pieces of work are junk — these are some very talented artists, and even their early work is pretty damn impressive to see.

DIEDRA STONE-MCGRORY

MUSIC

Money

Saturday, 8:30 p.m.
MilkBoy Philly
1100 Chestnut St.
$10, 21+, 877-987-6487
www.ticketfly.com
Hailing from Manchester, England, Money has a melancholic but strongly melodic vibe shared by their hometown's many alt-rock pioneers — the Smiths, Joy Division and the Stone Roses are all from Manchester. But their slow-burning, build-up-and-explode sound also has a psychedelic ecstasy that's pure Animal Collective — it's the sound both of the oppressive overcast sky and the sun mercifully breaking through it.

JULIEN BOURGEOIS

FESTIVAL

GreenFest Philly

Sunday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Headhouse Square
509 S. 2nd St.
Free, 215-840-5214
www.greenfestphilly.org
The Clean Air Council hosts this day of live music, a sustainably brewed beer garden, organic food and drinks, a 25-foot rock climbing wall and more than 100 booths offering all manner of information on and demos of sustainability techniques and technologies including bad-ass stuff such as fuel cells and electric cars. Also, there will be edible bugs — because why the heck wouldn't there be?

MATTHEW DINARO

Horoscope

♍ Virgo | Aug. 23-Sept. 22. Put your energy and enthusiasm to good use. By getting small jobs done, you will have the time to do something special.

♎ Libra | Sept. 23-Oct. 22. Interaction with family members will be dissatisfying. If you want to lessen the tension, consider offering to run errands.

♏ Scorpio | Oct. 23-Nov. 21. Don't let friends or family subdue your enthusiasm. You may be considered quirky or unusual, but that is no reason to stifle your creativity.

♐ Sagittarius | Nov. 22-Dec. 21. Keep money matters a secret for the time being. Resist the urge to lend or borrow. Don't discuss investments.

♑ Capricorn | Dec. 22-Jan. 20. You may be confused about your love life. Be honest about the way you feel, and discuss personal decisions with your partner.

♒ Aquarius | Jan. 21-Feb. 18. Protect your interests. There are people who would like to benefit from your ideas. Your intuition will guide you right.

♓ Pisces | Feb. 19-March 20. Participate in an unusual or unconventional creative process. New friendships will develop if you are open about how you feel.

♈ Aries | March 21-April 20. Take care of your responsibilities. This is not a good time to air grievances. Bad feelings will mount if you get into an argument.

♉ Taurus | April 21-May 21. Travel and communication are highlighted. Valuable friendships and information will come your way if you do things with people you admire.

♊ Gemini | May 22-June 20. Take the time to assist family members. You will gain important allies if you are helpful to older relatives. Scrutinize your papers.

♋ Cancer | June 21-July 22. Don't criticize others. Your emotions will run high, and you are likely to offend someone if you refuse to see both sides of a situation.

♌ Leo | July 23-Aug. 22. Put in extra hours at work and increase your productivity. Your superiors will appreciate your efforts and will put you in the running for a raise. EUGENIA LAST

Metro doesn't think like the patriarchy

Re: 'Creepy hackers release creepy naked celeb photos for the Internet's creeps' (Metro, Sept. 2) Thanks for writing: "The notion 'don't take nude photos of yourself if you don't want them online' both unnecessarily shames the victim of an actual crime – hacking and theft of personal property — and seems to give a pass to actual criminals by leaving the hacker out of the equation altogether." It's refreshing to hear this come from a man. Some female friends and I are often climbing mountains to convey this idea to both men and women who fail to understand how a socially constructed, patriarchy-centric expression of language can impact how they interpret a situation. By saying this, you are demonstrating that such ideas are not developed in a vacuum by women alone. In many conversations about women's empowerment, men are often left out of the conversation as though they have little wisdom to add. As readers finish the article, they can re-center themselves and be reminded that this is essentially a case of an invasion of privacy, and that hacking into other people's private accounts is not the fault of the victim. MELODY LAM, VIA EMAIL

Phillies have a special bullpen

MLB. The future is gleaming bright for one of baseball's most powerful bullpens.

Cole Hamels was confident the Phillies' bullpen would finish the team's no-hitter Monday. / GETTY IMAGES

Relievers tend to be as volatile as Kardashians. Who knows what you'll get from a pitcher, who isn't good enough to be a starter, year after year?

However, there is reason to believe that the Phillies bullpen could be something very special for the next few seasons. Only one reliever is over the age of 27 and the pen has been light's out since the All-Star break.

The Phillies relievers have been the most consistent part of Ryne Sandberg's team. That's quite a contrast from the 2012 and 2013 pens, which were the team's Achilles' heel.

The Phillies relievers posted a 4.19 ERA, good for 27th in baseball in 2013. It didn't look good early this season. Through May 11, the Phillies pen had a 4.95 ERA, which was second-worst in the majors, but that was before Ken Giles was called up and Jake Diekman and Justin DeFratus found themselves.

Pen pals

"I love being part of this. I really think this is something special. We're putting it together, and the great thing is that we should all be here doing this for years." Jake Diekman

"When you hand over a lead to this pen, you feel good about it holding up," Kyle Kendrick said. "They're that good."

Cole Hamels feels the same way, particularly after Monday. Hamels left the game against the Braves in the sixth inning without allowing a hit. Diekman, Giles (0.87 WHIP) and Jonathan Papelbon (0.82 WHIP), who has been very good in 2014, not only held the lead but preserved the no-hitter.

"I like this pen more than the 2008 (Phillies bullpen)," an NL scout said. "That was a tremendous bullpen. When Ryan Madson entered the game in the eighth it was over and (Brad) Lidge was perfect. Having Giles in the eighth is like having a closer come out an inning early. He's for real. I like everything about him. Pap has been very reliable. He's not just picking up saves. He's had a bunch of clean innings. Diekman and DeFratus have pitched really well. To have four guys pitch that well out of the pen is tremendous."

Braves 7, Phillies 4

Phillies can't sweep in Atlanta

The Phillies and Braves were locked in a back-and-forth battle early, but Miguel Alfredo Gonzalez gave Atlanta the lead in his major league debut and the Phillies wasted three hits from Ben Revere in a 7-4 loss Wednesday afternoon.

David Buchanan went just four innings and was charged with four runs but just one earned as a Chase Utley error cost the Phils three runs in the second inning.

Utley did contribute two sacrifice flies, but Christian Bethancourt's RBI single in the fifth proved to be the decisive run in the loss. METRO

Leader in clubhouse

Revere atop NL hitters

When play finished in the Phillies' Wednesday loss, outfielder Ben Revere had a three-point lead in the NL batting title chase with a .314 mark. He was one hit away from leading the majors in four-hit games — he is currently tied with the Astros' Jose Altuve. Pittsburgh's Josh Harrison and Colorado's Justin Morneau are close behind. METRO

Hinkie sounds off

Sixers GM Sam Hinkie doesn't talk much. But in a rare conference call last week, he opened up about several important issues.

- On potential changes to the lottery: "It's a bit early right now. There has been some discussion about that. A team like us, you want to gather all of the information. We will look at all of the options before you would make any kind of decision."
- On first-round pick Joel Embiid's animated posts on Twitter: "Sometimes you find yourself in the middle of February, or late March, in the middle of a road trip where some of that humor doesn't go over so well. Maybe he will touch the stove and get burned a time or two, but I think he will find his way and be fine. But it is the sort of thing we talk about."
- On how difficult it was to trade Thaddeus Young: "Thad Young has been here seven years for the Sixers and has laid it on the line night after night, undergoing a lot of change, some in the last year, and has continually brought it every day. ... He was a day-to-day professional."
- On adding a first-round Top 10 protected pick from Miami in the Young deal: "Nobody anticipates Miami will be in the Top 10, they'll be a very solid team this year and we'll see how that plays out."

The Sixers will be full of new faces in 2014-15, including Luc Mbah a Moute, whom they acquired in the Thaddeus Young trade. / GETTY IMAGES

GM Hinkie can't stop tinkering

NBA. The Sixers are probably headed for another season at the bottom of the standings, and that's OK with Sam Hinkie.

There's no such thing as a quiet offseason for Sam Hinkie.

The Philadelphia 76ers' general manager continues to mold the team with trades, signings and tweaks here and there. The final product is far from complete.

It's a continual work-in-progress.

Bereft of veterans, the Sixers are likely in for another trip to the NBA lottery.

Aside from 33-year-old Jason Richardson, Luc Mbah a Moute is the team's second-oldest player, and he's entering his sixth season in the league.

While Hinkie keeps shaping the roster, it keeps getting younger.

"We've talked about this a lot over the past 12-plus months," Hinkie said. "It is important for our young players to have other players to look up to. Last year, a lot of that fell to [coach Brett Brown] and our coaching staff."

How about second-year point guard and reigning Rookie of the Year Michael Carter-Williams?

"It's a lot to place on a rookie or second-year player," Hinkie said. "Brett said he saw Michael, particularly in the back third of the season, show some signs of that."

ANDY JASNER

"I can tell you unequivocally we didn't have any conversations about [Anthony Bennett]."

Sam Hinkie commented on the multi-team trade that sent Thaddeus Young to the Timberwolves.

NFL power rankings | by Matt Burke

No. 1

Seahawks (13-3)

(*2013 record)

No team has gone back-to-back since the 2003-04 Patriots, but as of right now who is to say the Seahawks can't repeat? We know what the defense can do, but the offense might just be getting warmed up. Pete Carroll has a stable of running backs he's ready to unleash as Christine Michael, a third-stringer, would be a starter for many teams in the NFL.

No. 2

Broncos (13-3)

The Broncos learned the hard way that simply having a great offense doesn't guarantee you jack. Aqib Talib, T.J. Ward and DeMarcus Ware should help matters on D.

No. 3

Patriots (12-4)

Bill Belichick would snort if you called him a copycat. But in adding Darrelle Revis and Brandon Browner, it's clear he liked what Seattle did in 2013.

No. 4

49ers (12-4)

Their previously outstanding D isn't slated to be as dominant this season with NaVorro Bowman and Glenn Dorsey on the shelf.

No. 5

Packers (8-7-1)

The Broncos' scoring records from last season might not stand a year. Green Bay's O may explode with a healthy Aaron Rodgers and Eddie Lacy.

No. 6

Saints (11-5)

The Saints also recognized this past spring that titles aren't won without some semblance of balance. They grabbed one of the top defensive players this offseason in Jairus Byrd.

No. 7

Eagles (10-6)

The excitement surrounding Chip Kelly's innovative offense isn't expected to subside at all this season, especially with the addition of Darren Sproles.

No. 8

Falcons (4-12)

It's hard to recall a team having more "bounce-back" year buzz than the Falcons do right now, and no, it's not just us drinking "Hard Knocks" Kool-Aid.

No. 9

Cardinals (10-6)

The best team to not make the playoffs in 2013, many were saying that if they were in the AFC they would have at least made the title game.

No. 10

Bengals (11-5)

NBC put up a graphic last week showing that Andy Dalton's numbers are virtually identical to Peyton Manning's through three years. Maybe that contract wasn't ridiculous.

Catching up

Eagles top receivers are ready to go

Almost every key Eagles wide receiver was injured at some point this preseason. But with the Birds's NFL season opener just days away, offensive coordinator Pat Shurmur says the receiving corps will be at full strength against the Jaguars on Sunday.

" I think they are ready to go," Shurmur told the media Wednesday morning. "These are guys [Jeremy Maclin, Riley Cooper] that have played in the NFL for multiple years. They understand what it takes to get ready to go. They are comfortable in our system and they are ready to play."

At this time last year, Maclin was a few weeks removed from ACL surgery. Now, he is a key member of the Eagles offensive attack.

"He's really actually done very well coming back from his injury and then going through the training sessions," Shurmur said. "I think as we get ready to play now, and we kind of structure our training sessions where we're practicing drives and making sure we get groups of plays so that they get their conditioning, I think he's ready to go."
